

Scott Carlson

Scott@utahsafeco.com

Utah Safe Company: Protecting What Matters in St. George, Utah

Suicide Prevention in Construction: Practical Tools for Safer Communities

Suicide is a leading cause of death in Utah and has a profound impact on the construction industry, which faces some of the highest rates nationwide. In this course, Utah Safe Company owner Scott Carlson and Clinical Mental Health Counselor Rowdy Reeve will share practical strategies to recognize warning signs, create safer environments, and support those at risk. Participants will receive an accelerated QPR (Question, Persuade, Refer) training, along with insights on how builders, subcontractors, and community leaders can take simple, actionable steps to promote safety and resilience both on the jobsite and at home.

---

Scott Carlson is the owner of Utah Safe Company, where he specializes in helping homeowners and builders integrate safes and secure storage solutions into residential projects. With years of experience working alongside leading safe manufacturers and contractors, Scott understands both the practical and safety benefits that proper storage provides. As the founder of Safes for a Cause, he has partnered with schools, public health organizations, and community leaders to promote suicide prevention through responsible safe storage. Scott brings a unique perspective that blends industry expertise with a commitment to building safer homes and stronger communities.