

Utah State Fire Marshal Art Deyo

Arthur J. Deyo has more than 45 years of governmental service, the majority of which has been dedicated to the fire and hazardous materials response. He currently serves as the Hazardous Materials Section Manager for the Utah State Fire Marshal's Office, where he leads a team of highly skilled professionals in training and preparing first responders and communities for emergencies involving hazardous materials.

He holds an Associate's degree in Fire Science from Santa Ana College, a Bachelor's degree in Fire Administration from Cogswell College, and a Master's degree in Political Science from Oklahoma State University. He has also completed over 100 doctoral-level units toward a PhD in Emergency Management.

Since 1997, Art has instructed college and university courses and has traveled extensively throughout the United States and internationally, training firefighters, law enforcement officers, military personnel, and paramedics in preparedness and response to terrorist incidents involving chemical, biological, radiological, and nuclear (CBRN) hazards.
