

Jared has worked in the IT and Education industry for over 10 years. He holds numerous technical certifications and is a Dell certified trainer. He has been with Contractor's School for four years and manages their online CE system as well as all of their backroom IT infrastructure. He has trained for numerous companies and government organizations including New Horizons, DirectPointe, Dell, and DISA (Defense Information Systems Agency).